MASONIC CLUB REMODELED TO FORM LODGE

ANTICIPATING the institution of a Masonic lodge in Carmel about the first of March, members of the Masonic club here are pushing work of remodeling the club house on Lincoln. The building has been raised high on stilts, and a ground floor is being constructed below the rooms which have been used for club purposes, and will become the quarters of the lodge, according to the requirement that such quarters be raised above the ground floor. About $1000 will be expended in remodeling, and the club will if possible rent the ground floor to suitable tenants.

The Grand Lodge of California has been notified that the local group wishes to become a lodge, and after the expiration of a grace period of about two months, word will be received whether such dispensation can be granted.

Charles Watson is president of the Masonic club and Miles Bain is contractor in charge of the remodeling project.

Mrs. Karl Rendtorff Heads Library Board

Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff was made chairman of the board of directors of Ralph Chandler Harrison Memorial library, and Kent Clark was welcomed to the group as a new member and assigned the duties of treasurer, at a meeting held Tuesday morning. The board expressed deepest appreciation of the long and valuable service of John B. Adams, who combined the duties of chairman and treasurer and recently retired from the board. Mrs. Hurd Comstock and Mrs. John Dennis were reappointed.

Retention of the Sunday evening library hours of 6 o'clock to 9 was voted, with adherence to the present rule of no books circulated at that time. Ordered strictly enforced was a new rule that all borrowers' cards must be cleared of fines before more books may be taken.

Sympathy Petitions for Chief Englund

To secure signatures to a testimonial conveying to Chief of Police Gus Englund the affection, sympathy and appreciation of Carmelites for the fine manner in which he has dispatched his official duties, petitions were placed late today in the two banks and at Stanford's drug store, on which it is desired to obtain as many signatures as possible before forwarding the missive to the chief in San Francisco. Motored to the Fort Milley Veterans' hospital Saturday by Mrs. James Cooke, latest reports were that Chief Englund is resting well after a bone-scrapping operation which has for the present forestalled necessity of a toe amputation. The chief received a foot injury resulting in serious infection while participating in the search for Eliot Boko Schaffner along the rocky water-front.

Carmel River on Rampage Smashes Its Way to Ocean

Carmel river, given impetus by the recent storms, this week came tearing down the valley in volume and crashed its way through the sandbar at the lagoon and broke into the ocean.

The event attracted hundreds of Carmelites and many local nimrods are looking forward to good steelhead catches when the fish start upstream to spawn. The fish and game department will keep a keen eye on the situation to see that no infractions of the law are made.

Liquor Case Goes Over to Feb. 7

Carmel's liquor clause suit which started in the Superior court in Salinas last week, has been continued until Feb. 7. The suit was instituted by The Carmel Development Company against the Espindola Carmel store.

The plaintiff hopes to show by its action that ownership of some 1500 lots in Carmel carry the deed restriction prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The defense insists that the burden of proof rests with the plaintiff. The delay in action is said to be due to the fact that the plaintiff must make a tedious search of the records to find the necessary proof.

Defense attorneys Carmel Martin of Monterey, Judge J. A. Bardin of Salinas, and John Gardner of Watsonville, have not as yet submitted their case, waiting until their opponents can show exactly what Carmel property was originally sold some 30 years ago, and what was sold in subsequent additions. They are said to be prepared to contend that there are several pieces of land which were sold prior to the first Carmel Development Co. subdivision which are entirely clear of the deed restriction concerning liquor, as well as to assert that certain other property sold by the company subsequently had had the clause stricken out.

The original complaint filed last May by Mrs. Isabel Leidig against the Carmel Development Co., to quiet title, has been dropped from the calendar to be reset later.

Recognized Authority On State History Dies

Passing of a widely recognized authority on California history was noted with regret by the many students of regional history who have leaned heavily upon the authority of Nellie Van de Grint Sanchez, who passed away Saturday in Oakland. Funeral services were held Monday. Surviving by many years her husband, Adolfo Sanchez, this scion of old California families was 78 at the time of her death. She is survived by a son, Louis Sanchez.

Probably the best known of her works was her "Spanish and Indian Place Names of California," included in the bibliographies of many a later historical work. She also wrote a biography of her sister, Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson.

—Singing in the Rain—

RAINFALL FOR WEEK IS OVER FOUR INCHES

RAIN within every 24-hour period of the past week sent Carmel's rainfall figures zooming to a total of 10.54 inches when the guage was read yesterday morning at Carnegie Coastal Laboratories. Of this .47 inches was accounted for by Wednesday night's brisk storm; .46 inches fell Tuesday; .85 Monday, and over an inch and a half in the torrential storm of last week-end, which came on the heels of a high wind. Over four inches of rain have fallen here in the past week.

Filling and grading of streets eroded by the heavy rains last Thursday and Friday was in process this week under direction of Street Commissioner Joseph A. Burge. Most serious effect of the run-off was in the washing away of some 800 cubic yards of earth on the beach, giving point to the necessity of conservation activity at that point before it is too late, the commissioner remarked. Oiled streets are noted to have held up remarkably well under the pelting rain. Wooden curbs and gutters in some areas were further weakened by the storm, and the street department is pondering over the fact that these will ultimately have to be replaced.

Phones Stilled

Telephone service was temporarily interrupted in the Highlands, Carmel and Pebble Beach as a result of the windstorm, which put about 95 instruments out of commission. Many tree limbs were dislodged, and a few large trees uprooted, without doing serious damage. Weak spots in roofs were sought out by the heavy rain, resulting in emergency calls to carpenters.

As a result of the beneficial winter rains the hills about the village have turned a deep luscious green, with grass several inches high.

Figures Far Ahead

Rainfall figures are running far ahead of last season. At this period, Carmel had not yet reached the 7-inch mark. The Sur country, with a total of 21.04, to which yesterday's reading added the last .17 inches, had but 15.41 at this date last year. Carmel Valley received .34 in the 24-hour period ending yesterday morning; 8.29 for the season, against 6.46 for last year.

REWARD OF $250 POSTED TO SPEED SCHAFFNER SEARCH

Diving and patrolling of the coastline in search of the body of Eliot Boko Schaffner still proving fruitless, Dr. E. O. Heinrich, in charge of the search for the missing woman, announced this week the posting of $250 reward with Sheriff Carl Abbott to be paid on discovery and identification of the body. The Chicago woman disappeared from her temporary home here on Dec. 17, and is believed to have drowned herself in Carmel bay.

TICKLE AT CAPITAL

Senator Edward T. Tickle, of Highlands Inn, is in Sacramento for the opening of the Fifty-first legislative session which held its first session Jan. 7.

School Trustees Take Up Problem of Providing Part-Time Nurse

QUESTION of whose responsibility is supervision of health of Sunset school pupils reared its head again at the Tuesday evening meeting of the school trustees. Mrs. E. A. H. Watson and Mrs. Millard Klein, representing the P.-T. A., were at the meeting to urge immediate attention to this problem, and indicated that the P.-T. A. was so vitally interested that it might approve diversion of a portion of its health fund to this end, and that it would feel more inclined to do so if the board would appropriate an equal sum toward paying a registered nurse for two hours' service a day at the school.

While hiring of a school nurse had been approved as an SERA project, Mrs. Watson stated that at a conference with Fred Bechdolt, SERA director, she had been assured that the type of service required at the school could not be secured under SERA, which could provide a worker for home visits, but not for administrative work at the school. Principal

O. W. Barderson called attention to the fact that follow-up work through the homes is one of the important phases of health supervision, but the P.-T. A. representatives expressed the feeling that if a nurse could be on duty two hours each morning superficial symptoms of illness might be detected in time for preventative work to be done. Discussion of whether the whole problem should not be referred to the county health department encountered the difficulty that this service, understaffed and overworked, would be helpless to render the desired assistance even if it admitted the responsibility.

A P.-T. A. board meeting was to be held later this week to determine to what extent the organization could undertake responsibility in health supervision.

Considering requests for use of the school for various purposes, the board granted the request of the

Twenty Rehearse for "Glory Lane"

Twenty people are in rehearsal for "Glory Lane," the next play scheduled for the Playhouse to be presented Jan. 24, 25 and 26. "Myerick Productions," the producers, have secured Ralph Bell to direct the play. Mr. Bell has been connected with the stage and motion pictures for 30 years, and has directed "The Mission Play," "Tarnish," "Triumphant Bachelor," "Excess Baggage," "Tell Me Again," "Weak Sisters," "Broadway," "Tons of Money," "Ghost Train," and "Jonsey."

Joseph Hofmann To Appear Here Early Next Month

During the last few years many of the famous artists of the world have come to Carmel, and much of the credit for this has to be given to the Carmel Music Society. Its list of achievements will be enriched next month by the name of Joseph Hofmann, world-famous pianist. This concert will take place in the Sunset School Auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 2. It will be one of the outstanding events of the winter season. Press notices from all over the country and from Europe pronounce him still the "great piano virtuoso of today."

Johnnie Patrick, the author of "Glory Lane," is known to millions via the air lane. He wrote and produced over 2000 sketches that appeared over the National Broadcasting company network.

Sibyl Leonard plays the leading role and according to the director, she's a natural. Miss Leonard is probably one of the quickest studies who was ever handed a part. She not only knew her own lines at the third rehearsal but the lines of all the other characters.

By Ford and Gordon Knoles, who need no introduction to Carmel theatergoers, have excellent parts in support of Miss Leonard, as "Kenneth Kruger" and "Paul Dunn" respectively. Others in the play are: "Jessica Burke," Claire Sinclair; "Cora Anderson," Elizabeth Curran; "Sophie Gallagher," Marion Ford; "Opal Tobin," Marie Bell; "Mrs. McArthur," Fern Hyde; "Nellie," Ivy Van Cott; "Reverend," Dr. Williams; "Miss Olsen," Hallie Sampson; "Dr. Hill," Frank Heffling; "Mrs. Drake," Elaine Carter; "Grace Blackstone," Zahrah Koepf.

STORY HOUR FRIDAYS

Children's story hour at Carmel library will be held at 3:15 every Friday afternoon instead of at 4:00 as previously. Mrs. Wendy G. Prince is the story-teller.

School Trustees Discuss Health

League of Women Voters for use of the auditorium for a lecture meeting the evening of Feb. 22, for use of the auditorium for the city hall mass meeting next Tuesday evening, and refused permission to Mme. Jeanne Pirene to use a class room for private work.

As clerk of the board, Mrs. Helen Levinson was authorized to sign papers speeding the school art project toward approval by SERA. Principal Bardarson reported that office assistance provided by SERA, a total of 30 hours a week, was proving highly satisfactory. To renovate the school lawn, Mr. Bardarson was authorized to purchase top soil, fertilizer and seed to the value of about $5.

TAU MU SORORITY AT HOMESTEAD CAFE FEAST

Homestead Cafe in Carmel was chosen as the setting for the regular monthly dinner meeting of Tau Mu sorority Tuesday evening. Sixteen members gathered about the table appointed with white candles and spring flowers in shades of pink and blue. At the business meeting following dinner Mrs. Ralph Young presided, and plans were made for activities of the spring, including a special meeting in Pacific Grove in two weeks, and the next dinner meeting on Feb. 12.

Present were Mesdames Ralph Brady, Charles W. Easterbrook, Archie Hart, Ralph Powers, Lester Borchers, William F. Gleason, C. Chase Proper, Ray Baugh, Roland Ingels, George Chew, Marvin Londahl, George Graff, Harry Wingard, O. L. Beasley, Sutton Christian and Ralph Young.

Miss Haldis Stabell, who recently returned to Carmel after a lengthy stay in Europe, has gone to Pasadena to remain until spring.

Tom Phillips, former Carmelite now residing in Santa Barbara, was in the village this week, greeting old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Boeing of Seattle have taken Col. J. H. Poole's house at Pebble Beach for the remainder of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobin Clark have come down from San Francisco to occupy their Pebble Beach home for a few weeks.

January Water Color Exhibit at Art Gallery Falls Short of Past

By THELMA B. MILLER

WHILE several individually arresting pieces are included in the January exhibit of water colors at the Carmel Art Association gallery, the whole effect falls short of the shows of the past few months. A few of the entries seem too poor to have found a place on the art gallery walls. These point the weakness of water-color as a medium, and by the same token present a standard by which to distinguish a really good water-color.

Old Favorites Present

Many of our old favorites and a few new-comers are represented. The list of exhibitors including Paul Dougherty, John O'Shea, Paul Whitman, William Ritschel, William Watts, Burton Boundey, James Fitzgerald, Homer Levinson, Armin Hansen, Rowena M. Abdy, Myron Oliver, Jean Kellogg, Major Ralph Coote, Laura Maxwell, I. Ingalls, Edith Heron, George Kotch, Ferdinand Burgdorff, Free Dean, Edith Maguire Josephine Culbertson and Charlotte Morgan.

A leader in the experimental and highly individualistic field of the local art group is John O'Shea. He is off on some path of his own; he is discovering something within himself-and new art truths. If you cannot understand him or agree with him, you can respect him, for he is doing something definite and purposeful, not just messing about. It does not quite come off every time, of course. His two paintings in the January show are an example of one that does and one that doesn't.

Good for Flowers

Given any sort of skill, it is hard to go wrong in water-colors of flowers, and if some dilettantes think that painting floral pieces is just one step above decorating china, the fact remains that a good flower painting is something you can live with pleasantly day after day just as you live with your garden. It is a pleasure to see Edith Maguire's petunias, which were in her exhibit last month at the Denny-Watrous gallery, on the art gallery wall. Another lovely splash of color is provided by Laura Maxwell's still-life, of anemones, and a panel of eucalyptus blossoms, done by that veteran in flower-work, Josephine Culbertson, is another of the bright spots.

Homer Levinson has made a striking work of his study of a Monterey street in highly modern guise, no adobe sleeping in the sun, but a pattern of high-tension wires and automobiles. Another man to watch is James Fitzgerald, who has done something original in coloring and design in his study of purse-seiners: bright, clear-cut and exciting.

Edith Heron has captured an unusual effect of sun and shadow in a study of Monterey fishing boats. Two studies in pure design are Free Dean's lily patterns, and a weathered cypress with its roots exposed, by Charlotte Morgan.

Nature Smiles

Warm, rich coloring and a brooding peace is achieved in the Ingalls "Autumn Hillside," and another pleasing conception of nature all smiling is given in the pastel delicacy of Ferdinand Burgdorff's "On a Gentle Morning." This effect of more or less static placidity goes well in water-colors; when it comes to depicting the robust life of the ocean, for instance, the medium seems ineffective. It gets out of hand and the result is untidy rather than impressionistic. The sea has an uncapturable quality which baffles artists, but yields better to oils. Speaking of oils, William Watts and George Kotch give two contrasting examples of the technique of oils in water-color execution in their respective study of a Japanese temple and a cypress group.

Paul Whitman devoted great care and attention to his tongue-in-cheek barnyard scene, featuring a fat porker. That interesting Canadian, Ralph Coote, shows that he has been putting in his time to good advantage while staying in Carmel, particularly in his painting of Colton Hall.

At the Art Gallery

Picture of the Week

Picture of the week at the Carmel art gallery is William Ritschel's "Sea Rover," one of the most striking paintings which the gallery has had the honor of showing. This inaugurates a new plan of featuring one new canvas each week, to hang on the wall of the gallery separate from the monthly catalogued exhibit. Particularly fine things will be chosen as "picture of the week."

A veteran of the peninsula art group, Mr. Ritschel was one of the first to establish a studio in Carmel Highlands. He is one of the most successful painters of the sea, capturing in masterful fashion the turbulent and diverse moods of this elusive element. This painting of an old sailing vessel driven, in rhythm with the clouds above it, by a robust wind, had as subject a very large ship model in the artist's possession, rescued a half-century ago from a burning church in Denmark. It was imperative that the model be saved, as according to the superstition of the sea-faring folk, the barque which it copied would be lost if it came to harm.

MAYOR THOBURN WILL PRESIDE AT MEETING

Mayor James Thoburn will preside at the mass meeting called for Tuesday evening at Sunset school, when the question of the city hall bond election will be thoroughly aired, with opportunity given for speeches from the floor both for and against the project. The city council proposes at this time to advance its reasons for believing that the project is timely and in the public interest.

NUTRITION IS TOPIC

Miss Eloise Brandt of the California Dairy Council will speak on nutrition at the January meeting of Sunset P.-T. A. to be held Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Tea will be served following the program.

Many Prominent Speakers To Talk In Carmel for Film and Forum

PLANNING to make use of speakers available through the University of California Extension Division, directors of Carmel Film and Forum discussed this week a number of interesting possibilities to follow the first of the series of lectures by Scott Nearing Jan. 19. The extension division has assisted with the establishment of forums in many California communities where the university instructors have talked in the fields of social organization, economics, political science and current literature, lectures being followed by discussion from the floor.

Among the speakers being considered are Dr. Charles A. Gulick, Jr., whose subject is labor economics; James A. Caldwell, one of the brilliant speakers on English literature; Robert D. Calkins, who is a member of the labor relations board in San Francisco as well as professor of economics at U. C., and Ronald L. Olson, anthropologist.

The series of lectures, interspersed with new, experimental films of non-commercial type, will be given at popular prices at Carmel Community Playhouse on Monte Verde. This is a non-profit venture, inaugurated by a group of Carmelites who wish to stimulate thought and good talk by bringing here outstanding speakers in various fields. They would appreciate further suggestions as to discussion leaders whom Carmelites would like to hear.

QUICK ON THE TRIGGER

The snappiest business meeting on record was held by the Carmel Pistol club Tuesday. The meeting was held at the indoor range in the basement of the Murphy building instead of at the club room in the Williams building and as target practice had to be suspended while the meeting was in progress, the members did not waste time making long-winded speeches.

SUNSET MEETING FRIDAY

Business meeting of Sunset school student body will be held next Friday, Jan. 18, at 2:50, when committee reports will be heard. At an assembly this morning a motion picture was shown by Mr. Eckman, giving microscopic studies of protozoa and cells.

Travelogue Given at Woman's Club

A travelogue of Europe's chief danger-spot, Yugoslavia, was given Wednesday morning by Mrs. Willis G. White before the current events section of the Woman's club. An inharmonious, arbitrary union of diverse cultures, creeds, customs and climates, neither an attempt at parliamentary government nor the stern dictatorship of Alexander succeeded in making a nation out of Dalmatia, Bosnia, Croatia, Slovenia, Serbia, Montenegro and various other small subdivisions corresponding in physical area to the state of Washington, but temperamentally as

Tax Collections Here Show Trend To Better Times

Reflecting a better financial tone among Carmel property owners, tax collections on real estate when the tax list closed on Dec. 31 was much improved over last year, according to T. J. Heffling, deputy tax collector.

The percentage of delinquencies was only 9.17 per cent this year as against 16.13 for last year. Taxes to collect this year totaled $37,069.52 as compared to $38,286.86 last year. This year collections amounted to $33,668.76 compared to $32,107.39 at the end of 1933.

Delinquencies this year totaled only $3400.76 compared to $6,179.47 last year.

far apart as the poles, Mrs. White showed.

Traditionally a buffer between the Turks and Europe, mark of the Moslems lingers in the culture of many of the states, but an awakening to the west, particularly as exemplified by France, is marked. The lovely Adriatic coast has been and will continue to be, a European bone of contention, the speaker remarked. Western ideas have gained impetus here by the return from America of native bootleggers, steel-workers and fishermen with their larger or smaller fortunes.

Farewell Reception to Retiring President

Many peninsulans will attend the farewell reception to be given Monday evening, Jan. 21, to Ruth Bingham Herman, retiring president of the Musical Arts Society, which is arranging the affair. Monterey Peninsula Country Club is the place of the reception. As a farewell courtesy to her friends, Mrs. Herman will give a piano recital next Tuesday evening at Hotel Del Monte, including works of Chopin, Debussy, Mendelssohn, and a modern group. Planned for last evening, Mrs. Herman was obliged to postpone the affair.

Mrs. Herman will accompany her husband, Major Harrison Herman, to New Haven, Conn., at the end of this month, where he has been assigned Vestrymen were elected Monday evening at the annual dinner and parish meeting of All Saints Mission, as follows: Paul C. Prince, Alfred W. Wheldon, Peter Mawdsley, Cooper Anderson, Adam Darling and James L. Cockburn.

Winter Gardens Subject of Talk

Full of humor and varied information was the review of Richardson Wright's "Winter Diversions of a Gardener," given by Mrs. Gertrude Andrews at the first January meeting of the Woman's club garden section, at the home of Mrs. James K. Lynch at Santa Lucia and Mission.

Commenting on the first essay, "But Why Diversions," Mrs. Andrews drew attention to the fact that gardens are always associated with women. When the garden spirit grows, the home spirit grows. The second essay, "Flower-Painting Ladies" drew material from Puritan times when women took to making wax flowers, the spirit of strictness retarding the spirit of growth.

The garden section's next meeting will be held Thursday morning, Jan. 17, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Wolff, Ninth and San Antonio. Mrs. G. F. Beardsley will speak on "Mountain Flowers" and Mrs. Kent Clark will discuss "Japanese Gardens."

Mrs. Irwin Barbour has returned to her home here after spending New Year's in Pasadena. Mr. Barbour accompanied her south, then went directly to Salt Lake City on business for McClure Newspaper Syndicate, for which he is Pacific Coast representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Joseph Hickley of Monterey are the parents of a son, Patrick Joseph, Jr., born Tuesday morning at Peninsula Community Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Hunter have returned from Pasadena where they visited Mrs. Hunter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hixon, and Dr. Hunter's mother, Mrs. Charles Hunter.

Flowers and Furies of Mexico Are Considered at Woman's Club Meet

FOUR HUNDRED YEARS have not materially changed the Aztec-Spanish blend which produced the Mexican nation, but have caused it to come to fruition according to an inevitable pattern, Mrs. Margaret Grant showed in a brilliant and witty talk before the Woman's club at its general monthly meeting Monday afternoon. Ruminating upon a few colorful protagonists of Mexico's destiny whom she regards as illustrating this blend of decadent and primitive races. Mrs. Grant again discussed her particular flair for seeing life dramatically.

The "flowers and furies" of Mexico were considered symbolically, the "flowers" representing a spiritual leadership which has left its mark upon the people, and which showed their buds in some of the Aztec poetry, such as those selections from the sixteenth century which the speaker read by way of preface.

Spiritual Flowers

"The same ideals, the same baseness, the same fierceness, and the same love of beauty," have been a part of the Mexican character through all the centuries since the Conquest.

Mrs. Grant told a bit of the careers of several revered patriots and spiritual leaders; Father Bartholomew de las Casas, "apostle of the Indians," one of the first of the Franciscan friars, who battled for social justice; Father Bernardino Sahagun, through whose 12 great volumes of native lore the modern world learned most about the Aztecs; Juana Inez de las Cruces, seventeenth-century nun who wrote poetry of such subtle beauty that she was called the "fifth muse"; Eduardo Tresdias, genius of all art forms, whose beautiful design for churches "white and classical" is still followed in his native state of Queretaro; Father Hidalgo y Castillo, who rallied the Indians to drive out the Spaniards.

Villa Over-Glorified

Half-bandit, half-patriot, is the usual Northern conception of Mexico's military heroes, to which Mrs. Grant gave partial sanction. She dismissed as offensive and inaccurate the interpretation of Villa as offered in the cinema "Viva Villa," and branded him "foul beast" which was rather the impression given by newspaper accounts of his exploits at the time.

Carranza was dismissed without close scrutiny, though some writers have depicted him as a more complex and intriguing figure than Mrs. Grant appears to regard him. Contrasting these hard, driving northern military leaders with the passionate and fiery southerner, Zapata, the speaker turned her full penetrating power of analysis upon him. A small farmer of the state of Morales who turned revolutionary under the lash of the hacendado's casual habit of annexing village common lands, he rose to power after the fall of Diaz, and led a highly successful revolutionary movement at the head of a disciplined army, rather than the rabble horde accumulated by the brigand leaders. If he was cruel it was a planned, disciplinary military policy rather than mere sadism, as was Villa's brutality. He entered Mexico City not to loot, but to send his soldiers in hat-in-hand, reverent awe, to see the sights in the cradle of their passionate nationalism.

Recruiting Policy

Marguerita Neri, one of Mexico's numerous bandit queens, refused to merge with Zapata's larger and more successful machine. Following his conscientious policy of securing recruits by marrying the daughters of influential chiefs—the number totaled 26—it was a stroke of fortune which brought him Juana Mendes of Michoacan, with her 1500 good fighting men and her gift for organization among the soldaderas and camp followers. One of Zapata's serious tactical errors was the dismissal of Juana, for she took her army with her.

In 1918 Zapata was tricked into an ambush and killed, but he still rides the hills on his black horse at night, and at hidden springs the Indians, to whom he is already a half-legendary figure, put out food for him and his famous charger. He is a living flame in the heart of every Indian, and one of the faggots which keeps alive the perpetual fire of the revolution.

ORDINANCE NO. 149

Not All Work for CCC Camps

One of the new interesting SERA projects emanating from Carmel is that by which entertainment will be provided from time to time for SERA and CCC camps of the district. This is another example of SERA'S killing two birds with one stone, by providing work for entertainers who badly need it, and relieving the monotony for the camp dwellers.

By government regulation, persons accepted for this project must have had at least five years professional experience on the stage or concert platform. A troupe of six to eight performers will be organized, to provide music, dancing, and short dramatic skits. Mrs. Nellie Montague is directing the project, for which Monterey Presidio acts as sponsor, to the extent of providing transportation for the entertainers, the only expense involved beyond salaries to the performers, which SERA funds will cover. The project has received official sanction from SERA headquarters in San Francisco.

Cheery Fireside Scene Is Cut Short Firemen Pay An Unexpected Visit

ANSWERING a call to the home of Mrs. George S. Blackman, Ocean and Carmelo, members of the volunteer fire department were relieved to find that flames seen by neighbors shooting from the chimney resulted from Mrs. Blackman's desire for a big and cheery fire to dispel the gloom of the storm, and not from a burning chimney. Here is the story as covered by one of The Pine Cone's volunteer reporters:

"This good and true story begins on the stormy afternoon of Thursday a week ago and the scene is at the fireside of the dear old 'Lady of Carmelo.' We find our Lady sitting contentedly by the fire seeing in the glowing embers the last of the Yule log scenes of many happy days from childhood through motherhood, and now the smouldering ashes flash pictures of bright little children who gaily call 'Grandma' to the watcher by the fire.

"To our Lady life has been rough in places, but a stout and understanding heart has made it possible for her to accept these in the true spirit.

To Broader Life

"The glow becomes dim as the log is gradually consumed, and the watcher hastens to add little 1935 logs from the store by her side. The flames now leap and dance and ascend the chimney as if seeking the nearest outlet to the broader life. Our Lady responds to this new mood and sees in the flames—her many friends with whom she has played and danced and to whom in later years she has responded in their desire for love and sympathy.

"Again the grandchildren become uppermost in her mind. A glorious flame shoots up the chimney and her thought is 'There goes the torch which little children will keep alight with burning zeal for all that is good and true.'

"Our Lady's thoughts and the warmth of the fire have carried her into the realm of dreams but these dreams are disturbed by a gentle but persistent knocking at the door. She calls out a hearty invitation to enter, and two or three of her village friends are blown into the room by the force of the elements.

"The visitors give our Lady fair greeting and one says 'Where is the fire?' She answers, 'Here it is. Sit by it with me awhile. 'Tis somewhat dim now. I only wish you could have been here a little time ago when the flame leapt up and up with all the joy of life, I think that was a good omen for 1935.'

The village fire-fighters sat by the fire with our Lady of Carmelo until the shades of night had fallen, and they talked of those things which are often uppermost in the heart but seldom expressed.

"On leaving, they silently detached the fire hose from the hydrant outside, boarded the fire engine, and went later to their own firesides, taking with them renewed faith and courage. The story ends in the home of the kindly neighbors who informed the firefighters of the flame of 1935 as seen pouring and reaching out from the chimney of our Lady of Carmelo. May the spirit of that flame reach far and wide. Courage and faith from the fireside were the great components of that glorious flame."

CARMEL AND PUBLICITY

Carmel is traditionally and vigorously opposed to the "chamber of commerce" type of publicity. But a type of publicity to which no voice of objection seems to have been raised, has gone abroad about this village of which no sane chamber of commerce secretary would be guilty. No organized body for the moulding of public sentiment would permit us to appear in such a foolish light.

At present the busy clipping bureaus are sending to the office of The Pine Cone a yarn about a petition being circulated for presentation to the city council asking for a ban on knitting. Some years ago Carmel made metropolitan head-lines on a fake nudist-colony story. This attained such wide circulation that Basil Woon in his book on the west, headed his chapter on the Monterey peninsula, "Nuts, Nudists and Nabobs."

While Woon is not a particularly important writer, nor a very good one, his "Incredible Land" has been rather widely read, and is very interesting in places. His chapter on Carmel is enough to make any serious person squirm with mortification.

"The modern Carmelites live a weird existence, grow beards, exchange soul-mates, bathe nude, drink gin, practice the higher arts of love, avoid pediculosis (this means lousiness, in case you don't know) by a hair's breadth, and, occasionally, write, etch or model," Woon asserts. "Every once in a while Carmel breaks into the front page with a bang... as when recently, some of the residents asked the Monterey county police to restrain tourists from pausing to examine their nudist camp."

The author is gravely open to censure for careless reporting, but perhaps he is less to blame than Carmel is for encouraging or permitting fake news to leave here for the sole purpose of creating sensational headlines.

Another story which gained wide circulation last fall was to the effect that a feud had arisen between artists and business men and that the artists had refused to permit invitations to be extended to business men for the Bal Masque. At times stories have "made" metropolitan dailies solely on the strength of spurious quotations from residents well enough known so that their names are always "copy." That these remarks have generally been widely at variance with what the celebrity in question would probably say under the circumstances has been overlooked by naive rewrite men.

Do we really want the outside world to think that we are all half crazy? It is hardly in keeping with the half-snooty aloofness which is the other face Carmel presents to the world. If we must have a trade-mark, the latter is preferable to the former.

So that there may be no misunderstanding, The Pine Cone, alone if need be, preferably with community backing, goes strongly on record against that type of publicity. It is not funny, it does not build us up in any way, it betrays a childish craving for the lime-light at any cost. Hoping to build up a reputation for reliability and honest reporting, The Pine Cone will not be guilty of printing as news, stories without a shred of foundation in fact.

SHOTS AT RANDOM

The new president of Mexico is closing up its gambling joints, so Southern California movie stars will have to patronize home industry at last.

* * *

France still furnishes the styles, but we have learned to produce our own smutty literature.

AUTUMN OUTLOOK

*O now is there an urgent wind to stir
 The scarlet of the maples, and the first
 Grey clouds of ducks, low-flying, sound their whir
 Through leaden skies to quench a homing thirst;
 And now is the staunch aster bravely showing
 A crystal flame though stiffened on its stem;
 And where the purple lilac buds were blowing
 Sparkle the jewels of a diadem.*

*O now is Autumn close about... what more
 To arouse the heart: leaf amber and the glitter
 Of frost like lace upon the garden's floor;
 And for each breath of wind that is too bitter,
 That would press inward with its weight of cold,
 Is there not warmth in leaves of burnished gold?*

CLAIRE AVEN THOMSEN.

SEQUOIAS

*Where cool of twilight vanquished primal heat
 And loveliness abides with grandeur, loom
 Sequoias. Regal mothers, warm with bloom
 Of children; lordly saplings grace their feet,
 Their arms hang low with verdure, April-sweet.
 The fallen needles gently lie in tomb
 Of silence. Incense fills the velvet gloom
 Where centuries' dust and living glory meet.*

*Sequoias challenged time and scourge of fires.
 They saw mad waters rise and leap to fall
 While they kept calmly building, day by day.
 As lullabies are wafted from their lyres
 The muck of earth becomes cathedral hall
 Where one may stop to ponder, learn and pray.*

ELSA LEICHTER.

I MARVEL!

*This calcium, this lime accounted good,
 This bone that I have spared you of my bone,
 The deep and private cistern of your blood,
 Miraculously filling from my own—
 By these you are made entity and man
 Informed of living lights by these you run
 More smoothly than the suavest engine can!
 Now to the many there is added one
 For whose bright fame I eagerly secure
 The credit. (Oh, the pitiful conceit!)
 So do we find the dark earth's signature
 Hid in a golden manuscript of wheat,—
 The poor, blind clods that proudly laugh and sing
 Beneath the lovely sheaves at harvesting.*

AMANDA BENJAMIN HALL

AUTHENTICATED

*Because she did not comprehend
 The meaning of "counterfeit," but knew
 The authenticity of youth,
 Of mirth, and love's unfeigned first clue,
 She went with confidence to buy
 Such beads as brighten dime bazaars,
 And when her silver coin was spent,
 She came out wearing a necklace of stars.*

IRENE WILDE.

CONGRESS CONVENES

Congress is back in harness again and the people of Carmel as well as the rest of the United States will get some idea of what is in store for the public.

There are many important issues to be decided. The average Congressman has a busy time ahead of him if he makes any detailed study of them. In fact, considering the many duties that fall within the scope of a Representative or Senator, the wonder is that they have any time to give to the contemplation of legislative matters.

However, President Roosevelt, in his state of the nation message delivered to both houses last Friday, gave the statesmen something to think about.

It is generally taken for granted that the enormous Democratic majorities will give him his way, for the most part. A notable exception is the bonus, which, in spite of his opposition, stands a good chance of being passed over his veto.

If the President has his way, some form of old-age and unemployment insurance, plus a start toward benefits for children, mothers and others handicapped by dependency or illness, will be passed.

One of the outstanding plans is to provide every able-bodied individual with a job. What more could we ask?

Roosevelt's unique and unassailable position in the hearts of his people was recognized again in the selection of his portrait to adorn the front cover of the first 1935 number of Time, the newsmagazine, under the caption "Man of the Year." Time's nomination is watched each year with great interest, and under the critical eye of Time's traditionally outspoken readers. Selection of Roosevelt concurred with the desires of the majority of the magazine's correspondents.

The phenomenon of Roosevelt's popular leadership continues without precedent in the memory of living Americans. Even citizens who disagree with his policies admit the man's genius for commanding loyalty. With a congress that threatens a bolt further to the left than the chief's own position, he is now regarded as a stabilizing influence.

TIME TO THINK

The procession of days revolves into another year and people in Carmel join with other human beings in taking advantage of the calendar's termination of 1934 to pause in life's tasks to take stock of the future, especially as they imagine 1935 will affect them.

It is a good thing for an individual to pause in the midst of ordinary cares and worries and try to understand what is going on, both insofar as the person is concerned and, also, in relation to other events. Human beings, as a race, know very little about themselves and less about external conditions and happenings and their own relationship to a changing and diversified environment.

It is easy, you know, for men and women to bury themselves in the prosaic, but necessary, tasks of life. The obligations of existence are necessary and not to be ignored for one seeking satisfactory living. However, human life offers other fields for exploration and discovery.

Here in Carmel there are so many diversified activities that one does not have to go far afield to find proper interests. The men and women who lift themselves out of the mob are those who possess the ability to enter these wider fields of human activity, whatever their accomplishments may be.

Basketball Players Needed By Legion

Positions are still open on the Carmel men's basketball team which the American Legion is sponsoring, and for which it is desired to secure the village's best possible five players to compete with teams from other peninsula points. First game of a series was played at Monterey high school with a Monterey team, resulting in a victory for the local boys. Official score was 38 for Carmel American Legion team; 10 for Monterey Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Practice is held each Sunday morning at 9:30, and Wednesday evenings at 7:30, at Sunset school gym, and anyone aged 17 upward with ambitions toward casaba-tossing is urgently requested to show up at the earliest possible practice for competitive tryouts. Among the early contenders are Dean Nichols, Raleigh Belvall, Harry Turner, Harry Hilbert, F. W. Jacott and Linton Hitchcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan of San Francisco have taken the Newman house at Mission and Tenth for six months and will enter their children in Sunset school.

Personal Triumph Won by Andrew Sessink Before Musical Arts Society

SPIRIT of informality and appreciation of an unusually fine program infused the meeting of the Musical Arts society Monday evening at the Van Ess-MacGowan home in the country club.

The evening's program was in charge of Arthur Gundersen, and was in the nature of a personal triumph for Andrew Sessink, who, if recognized as one of the outstanding singers of the peninsula, had perhaps not previously received quite the ovation extended him at this time.

Tone-true and sweet in quality is Mr. Sessink's tenor voice. His singing is effortless and highly expressive, and his auditors were immensely pleased with his selection of "Celeste Aida," "Have You Seen a White Lily Grow," (old English), "Shoes," (Manning), and "Spirit Flower" (Stanton). As a graceful gesture to the members of the household who have so generously opened their lovely home to the organization as a place of meeting, Mr. Sessink added to his group the touching song,

"Bless this House," which he later repeated for the special benefit of W. O. Raiguel, architect who designed it, a late-comer to the meeting.

Joining peninsular music circles this fall and attaining immediate popularity is Mrs. Ethel Irvine of Salinas, who gave a group of operatic arias, "Voce de Donna" from Gioconda, "Una Voce poco fa" from Barber of Seville and "Un bel di vedremo" from Butterfly. Mrs. Irvine is greatly to be commended for turning her attention to works of such magnitude instead of devoting time to the trivial ballads which compose the repertoire of so many singers who could, with a little effort, aspire to something better. Her interpretations were excellent, and showed sincere appreciation of the music's significance. Her voice combines a lyric sweetness and dramatic power, and considerable ease in the coloratura passages of the Rossini aria. Noteworthy is the unusual sweetness of her middle register, colorless in the range of many sopranos. An occasional breathiness tarnishes the tone, but this young singer has a seriousness of purpose which will lead her to correct this slight defect.

Accompanist for the two singers was Miss Dorothy Heer, who also gave studious renditions of the Chopin Waltz in C sharp minor, Debussy's "Claire de Lune" and "May Night" by Palmgren.

DISCUSS ASSEMBLY PLANS

School legislation and school assembly plans for the second semester were discussed at a faculty meeting at Sunset school during the noon hour Tuesday. A report on health projects was given by Miss Blanche Heninger.

Mrs. Rendtorff Heads Red Cross

Mrs. Karl G. Rendtorff was elected chairman of Carmel Red Cross chapter at the annual meeting held Wednesday afternoon at All Saint's parish house. Other officers named were Mrs. John W. Dickinson, vice chairman; Miss Clara Hines, secretary; and A. F. Halle, treasurer. Others on the executive board are Mrs. Sidney A. Trevett, James L. Cockburn and Guy Koepf. New members of the board of directors elected at this time are: James Reagan, Father Michael D. O'Connell, Rev. Austin B. Chinn, James Thornburn, George L. Wood, Byington Ford, Mrs. John Dennis, Miss Agnes Ford, Carl Rohr, James L. Cockburn, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. Anna Hayford and Mrs. Ethel Young.

Judge Seeking Sidewalk Driver

Carmel is notoriously broad-minded, but when it comes to automobiles driving down the sidewalk, there are limits, according to Police Judge George L. Wood, who would give a big red apple to know the name of the driver of the car which came over the hill Saturday evening, took to the side walk on Ocean avenue in front of Carl Rohr's shop and did not leave it until about opposite the library. The three occupants of the front seat then proceeded to shuffle themselves so that the driver could not be detected. Only occupant of the car to be identified was Bill Hudson, son of George Hudson, ex-mayor of Pacific Grove, and he refused to tell Judge Wood who was driving. A waitress issuing from Whitney's at the moment the car was passing, could not open the door of the candy kitchen. A second earlier, and she and her laden tray would have been in the path of the car.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Garland of Los Angeles have opened their Pebble Beach home for a short time.

THERE'S A RIGHT TYPE OF GAS HEATING EQUIPMENT

FOR EVERY HOME!

in operating cost!

Have you a heating problem that is different? Then check down through these four examples of satisfactory installations of gas heating.

"Say, this is great... just feel that flow of lively heat." It's a floor furnace—the ideal solution for furnace heat in homes without a basement. Inexpensive to buy—for example, floor furnaces can be purchased for as little as $45 plus installation.

"Here's the luxury of steam heat for modest homes with modest incomes." A gas steam radiator takes up but little space by a wall. Low in operating cost, and low in first cost. As little as $31.50 plus installation.

"Cheerful fireside glow with warmth as clean as sunshine." One of the most companionable types of gas heating equipment. Very good to look at, and very, very modest in cost. Radiant fire as low as $16 plus installation.

"Good looking and very satisfactory"—is what thousands say about the Circulating Heater. Can be used to heat from two to four rooms. Medium size for the average single floor home. As low as $56 plus installation.

You can borrow the money you need for gas heating equipment at low interest rates through the Federal Housing Administration. It's a wise investment to make.
